POLICE FIND NO OPPOSITION "CLUES" BUT GET NOWHERE IN MURDER MYSTERY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—While the military and police today continued their relentless hunt for the slayer of Miss Inez Elizabeth Reed, the murdered army nurse whose body was found in a ravine in San Mateo county March 8, detectives began a systematic search of San Francisco garages for the "death limousine" which still is believed to have carried Miss Reed to the Hotel Mateo in San Mateo and later to have taken her body to the cliff at the foot of which it was found.

A new description of this machine has been furnished by Walter Pilling, pumpman on the Parrott estate, who says that a maroon colored limousine remained stalled outside of his cabin at the juncture of the El Cerrito and Halfmoon Bay roads for nearly two hours on the morning of March 7, the day before the body was found. Pilling's cabin is about a mile and a half from the spot where the body was found.

Driving interest with these angles of the mystery are the statements of two men of San Mateo who declare positively that they saw Mrs. Maud Frankentfield, Oakland friend of Miss Reed, in San Mateo a short time before the body was found.

These men, H. A. French, an electrician, and D. C. Brown, a blacksmith of 39 North D street, San Mateo, confronted Mrs. Frankentfield at the harbor police station yesterday and asserted that there was no doubt in their identification of this woman as the person they had seen.

French declared Mrs. Frankentfield was the woman who had alighted from an automobile in San Mateo on the night of March 6 and asked him to direct her to a physician.

At the coroner's inquest, however, French said that the woman who accosted him that night answered to the description of Miss Reed.

"I am positive you are the woman who spoke to me that stormy evening," French said to Mrs. Frankentfield in the presence of the police.

"You are mistaken," Mrs. Frankentfield said calmly. "I never was in San Mateo."

Brown identified Mrs. Frankentfield as a woman he had seen passing his shop on Friday, March 7, a day before the body was found.

Carroll Williams, a waiter at the Hotel Mateo, told the police yesterday that he was positive a woman who had spent four or five days at the place around March 3 was Miss Reed.

LOST—All carbon and engine troubles since using Motorlife.

AUTO AND BICYCLE COLLIDE

At noon today an auto driven by J. F. Toneri ran into a bicycle ridden by Gildo Piardo at Washington and Standard avenues on the West Side. Nobody knows who was to blame for the accident, but the man on the bicycle got the worst of the encounter. Dr. Lucas attended him for sundry contusions and bruises. Toneri says his auto was damaged to the extent of $100, a broken windshield and bent mudguards.

DISCOVERED TO CHANGES IN DEPARTMENT

Under the present system, one-third of the force is absent nine hours each day for meals, and the efficiency of the department is naturally lessened accordingly. The two-platoon system, which has been adopted in many large cities in this country and Canada, has been found to be enough more efficient to more than repay the extra cost of maintenance, which would amount to comparatively little to the individual taxpayer.

In circling the petition for the purpose of bringing the question before the voters at the next election, we met with comparatively little opposition from the business interests. The majority of business men, we believe, are in sympathy with our cause. They realize that the city would be benefitted by the adoption of the two-platoon system and, at the same time, would like to see conditions arranged so that firemen could get a normal amount of recreation and have an opportunity of spending part of their time at home, the same as other working men.

STATE BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL IN SESSION AT RAISIN CITY

FRESNO, March 17.—The nineteenth annual convention of the State Building Trades Council opened here today, with 300 or more delegates in attendance, representing the building craftsmen from all parts of the state.

The delegates were welcomed to their meeting place in the Fresno Municipal Auditorium by Mayor William F. Toomey and William Glass of the Fresno Chamber of Commerce. P. H. McCarthy, president of the council, spoke in response.

This afternoon President McCarthy will make his usual report, outlining the transactions of the council during the past year and sounding the keynote of the policies to be pursued during the coming one.

The best means of stimulating building construction throughout the state as the most necessary reconstruction measure will be among the most important subjects of discussion at the sessions of the convention.

PERSHING LAUDS VALOR OF MEN OF U. S. A.

COBLENZ, March 15.—Within sight of the distant hills of occupied Germany 20,000 troops of the Thirty-second division today heard General Pershing express appreciation of their efforts at Chateau Thierry, Soissons and on the Meuse-Argonne front, which, the commander-in-chief said, made it possible for them to stand where they were today.

The soldiers assembled in a small valley after being inspected and reviewed. General Pershing said he took the liberty of thanking the soldiers for their services in the name of more than 100,000,000 Americans at home, whose hearts had been with the soldiers all during the fighting and since.

The review took place on the highland east of the Rhine, beyond Rengsdorf, the headquarters of the Thirty-second Division, on a hill overlooking the old castle of the Princess of Wied, and a great valley stretching away toward Central Germany.

After the review General Pershing presented distinguished service medals to Major General William Lassiter, commander of the division; Brigadier General Edwin B. Winans, commander of the Sixty-fourth Infantry Brigade, and Colonel Robert McCook, chief of staff to General Lassiter, and eighteen distinguished service crosses to officers and men of the division.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY WILL HOLD MEETING

The annual meeting of the MacDonald Missionary society will take place at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. N. Friend will address the meeting.

In addition to the lecture which will be delivered by the speaker a musical program has been arranged and afterward refreshments will be served by the ladies of the society.

TOPPING GETTING BETTER

George Topping, the electrician of the West Side is recovering from a rather severe illness at his home on Scenic avenue.

VISITING IN SAN FRANCISCO

Miss Sadie Smith, clerk at the Pulse grocery, spent Sunday visiting friends and relatives in San Francisco.

MRS. OUGH HAS RETURNED

Mrs. Alice Ough, who has been visiting friends in Los Angeles, has returned to her home in this city.

ELECTRIC COMPANY WILL DEMONSTRATE LATE EQUIPMENT TO LADIES OF THIS LOCALITY

The Western States Gas & Electric company, co-operating with the Pioneer Electric company, the Pacific Electrical Manufacturing company, and the V. G. Electric company, is busy today fitting up the vacant store next to the electric company's place on Sixth street, for a demonstration of electric cooking stoves that will start tomorrow afternoon and continue for the next two weeks.

There will be a lady demonstrator on hand, all kinds of electric ranges will be installed, and the ladies of Richmond are cordially invited to attend the demonstration and see the working of these new electric wonders.

These stoves are so fixed up that you can put your food on to cook, go down town to shop, forget all about the meal, and when you return home it is cooked, and ready to be served on the table.

Tomorrow afternoon the following appetizing menus will be served not only to the ladies but to the men as well: Hot biscuits, leg of lamb, cake and electrically percolated coffee.

Manager George N. Rooker of the Western States Electric company is an enthusiast over the question of electricity. He says there is nothing like the juice for cooking, it is cleaner than any other method, and when you take into consideration that in roasting meats, electricity does not dry your meats out but leaves them tender and juicy, they are more economical than other methods of cooking.

FATHER OF SLAIN GIRL FINDS CHEST OF BELONGINGS IN OAKLAND STORAGE WAREHOUSE

CONCORD, March 17.—Five days of search for the belongings of his daughter, Miss Inez Elizabeth Reed, ended successfully for Gus Reed, the father, yesterday when he found in the Lyon storage depot, 3430 Broadway, Oakland, a cedar chest containing clothes, pictures and letters which she had stored away upon entering Letterman hospital last April.

It was the chest he had made for her as a Christmas gift in 1906. The sight of it caused him to burst into tears.

In his eagerness to find it it contained anything which might lead to the murderer the father forced open the lid.

Carefully tucked away in the chest was the diploma received by her studies at the Samuel Merritt Hospital in Oakland in 1914.

Inside the same bag was the graduate's dress of white silk and white kid slippers.

Only a few postals and letters were found. These were from girl acquaintances.

A large album containing snapshots of nurses and girls she had known was also found.

There were only two men's portraits in the chest.

One was of the father and the other of her brother. Books on "Practical Nursing," "Directory of 30,000 Medical Works," "Obstetrics for Nurses," "Practical Dietetics" and books of fiction, such as "The Winning of Barbara Worth," and "The Hoosier Romance," were at the bottom of the chest.

"The Hoosier Romance" had written on the front page: "Dear Inez: Rejoicing with you in your achievement and with hopes for the future I send you this little token. Your friends, Theresa and Julian."

A Christmas card saying, "A Merry Christmas to you and Nat. Affectionately, Don," had been carefully tucked away with some family portraits.

The card read: "Happiness pursued is never overtaken, because, little as we are, God's image makes us so large that we cannot live within ourselves, nor even for ourselves, and be satisfied."

"It is not good for man to be alone, because, rightly, self is the smallest part of us. Even God found it good not to be alone, but created objects for His love and benevolence."

The father did not know who "Nat" or "Don" may be.

STANDARD OIL IS BANDIT IS CAUGHT LARGEST SINGLE INCOME PAYER IN THE STATE SHORTLY AFTER HOLDUP OF MAN NEAR VALONA

SUNDAY'S SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER tells of incidents connected with the Saturday night rush of business in the Revenue Tax Collector's office in that city and incidentally relates that the Standard Oil company will pay this year as their pro-rata income, judging from their initial payment of almost $5,000,000, the sum of $19,600,000. The Examiner says:

When the Federal Income Tax rush closed last night, Collector of Internal Revenue Wardell estimated that 25,000 more individual returns had been filed than last year. He figures on 150,000 returns this year.

With the returns on hand, and those which will be received in the mail on Monday, Wardell estimates that the initial payment of income taxes in this district will reach $30,000,000.

Returns with attached checks, which the postmarks will show were mailed prior to last midnight, will protect taxpayers from being declared delinquent and subject to a penalty.

The largest single payment in this district was made by the Standard Oil Company. At noon yesterday, W. F. Green, assistant treasurer for that corporation, walked into Collector Wardell's office and placed on the counter a certified check for $4,900,000.

He explained that this was the initial payment for the first quarter. At this rate, it was figured that the corporation's total tax for the year would be $19,600,000.

Mrs. T. R. McClure, formerly of this city, but now engaged with her husband, former well known real estate man, in raising walnuts and almonds in the vicinity of Brentwood, was in town last night. She came from the ranch to attend the funeral of an old time friend in Oakland and returned this evening. The McClures are doing well and like their new home in the country very much.

MARTINEZ, March 17.—Caught by the powder works guards at Hercules three and a half hours after he had held up and robbed

Rossoni in Crockett about 10 o'clock Friday evening, Allan Liget, a young Hungarian, confessed his crime after Rossoni had confronted and identified him in the sheriff's office in Martinez at noon Saturday.

Liget came to Martinez from Vallejo Friday afternoon and from this city walked to Crockett, leaving here about 7 o'clock in the evening. In Valona he accosted Rossoni, who was walking home about 10 o'clock, and shoving a revolver into Rossoni's stomach ordered him to "shell out."

Rossoni had about $30 in small change in his pockets and a gold watch, all of which were recovered from Liget.

Constable Fox immediately began a search for Liget and Jailer Don Williams notified all officers along the railroad to be on the lookout for the suspect. Liget, "counting the ties," to Oakland, was taken into custody by the Hercules guards at 1:40 o'clock Saturday morning.

Rossoni was a little doubtful as to Liget's identity and the latter sneered at the young Crockett man's attempts to make sure that he was the highwayman, but when search of his clothing disclosed Rossoni's gold watch, Liget broke down and sobbed out his confession.

Liget was formally charged with robbery on complaint of Rossoni.

MRS. CALFEE HOME FROM MODEST VISIT

Mrs. D. W. Calfee and son, Lieutenant T. N. Calfee, are back from their visit to the home of Mrs. Calfee's mother in Modesto, where they have been for the past two weeks.

Lieutenant Calfee will probably take a position with the government with headquarters in Stockton or San Francisco.

WOMAN DROWNED IN LAKE WHILE BOAT RIDING

OAKLAND, March 17.—While Lake Merritt in Oakland was crowded with boating parties yesterday afternoon, Miss Bessie Rosenberg, 1147 Silver avenue, San Francisco, met death by drowning in the shallow waters at the north end of the lake.

In company with Harry Alhadeff, 418 Tehama street, the young woman was paddling about in a canoe. While trying to change her position the canoe tipped over, throwing both overboard.

Alhadeff attempted to save the life of his companion, who, after falling overboard had tried to remove a heavy coat, in which her arms had become entangled.

Alhadeff's efforts proved unavailing and the girl's body sank.

Her companion was taken from the water in an exhausted condition and rushed to the Oakland Receiving Hospital, where he was revived.

The body of the woman was found a half hour later.

RICHMOND ARCHITECT TO PLAN BRENTWOOD SCHOOL

James T. Narbett of this city has been asked by the high school trustees of Brentwood to prepare plans for their new building which is to be one of the most modern structures for school purposes in the county.

Architect Narbett is having all the work his office can handle and is constantly being called upon from outside builders to submit plans. He is doing work for some of the largest firms in the East Bay cities.

The Merchants' Association will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening to discuss matters concerning the welfare of the business men of the city.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE SOLDIERS

All returned soldiers and sailors are invited to come and bring a lady friend to the entertainment and dance given by Olive Homestead of Yeomen on Thursday evening, March 20th, at Pythian Castle Hall.

Jack Crowe's orchestra will furnish the music for dancing and a splendid program has been arranged to give the boys a delightful time. The Yeomen are splendid entertainers and it can be depended upon that they are not going to allow their prestige to wane on this occasion. All of the boys who offered their services to Uncle Sam will be more than welcome.

BISSELL AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET DANGEROUS CROSSING WHERE MANY ACCIDENTS OCCUR

The intersection of Bissell avenue and Sixth street is a dangerous place for automobiles and pedestrians alike. Several times within the past six months there have been real accidents with street cars and motorvehicles and between gas propelled vehicles and some day, unless people use a little more caution the newspapers will be called upon to chronicle a tragedy.

Today an auto and a motor delivery truck collided there. There was a man and a woman in each machine and none of them were injured.

The city council will hold its regular weekly meeting this evening. There is nothing of importance to come before the members of the board except the usual routine work.

The Standard Oil tanker, Forester is taking on a cargo of oil for the coastwise trade. She is moored to the Point Orient dock.

SECRETARY OF WAR WILL BE IN FRISCO TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—San Francisco is planning a reception for Secretary of War Baker and General Peyton C. March, chief of staff, who are to arrive here tomorrow on an inspection trip.

Baker and March are due with their party to reach San Francisco about 9 o'clock in the morning, according to information given out at Western department headquarters yesterday.

The secretary will spend tomorrow in San Francisco and plans to leave the city late in the afternoon. It is not known whether he will spend what is left of Camp Fremont at Palo Alto.

This will be the first visit of Secretary Baker to the Pacific coast. General March, it is said, was once stationed at the Presidio as a very young army officer, but only for a very short time.

The big guns at Fort Winfield Scott will thunder a salute of nineteen guns to the secretary of war, and a salute of seventeen guns will be given March, who temporarily holds the rank of a full general. The inspection of the Presidio by these high army officials is being done, it is said, at the special request of Congressman Julius Kahn, who will be chairman of the military affairs committee in the next Congress.

It is expected that Baker and General March will make several recommendations concerning the housing facilities at the Presidio.

THE SEVENTEENTH OF IRELAND

Today is the day all good Irishmen celebrate—St. Patrick's Day, dear to the hearts of all men who were born on or whose forebears came from the Emerald Isle. The right thing to do on St. Patrick's day is to wear a bit of green ribbon on your coat-lapel or else a green necktie.

JUDGE JACOBS NOT IN RACE FOR COUNCILMAN

Judge Jacobs says he is not in the race for councilman and would not have the office, if he could get it without a contest.

LOCAL PYTHIANS ENTERTAIN MANY AT RANK WORK

Richmond Lodge No. 13 entertained a large delegation of Pythians from Oakland and San Francisco on Friday night when Paramount Lodge No. 17 conferred the rank of Esquire upon seven Pages after three strangers had been proved in the Page rank. "Dynamite" Davis had charge of the eats and 151 sat down to the banquet board afterward. The Long Form Knight Rank will be put on in Pythian Castle next Friday night.

Contra Costa Temple, Pythian Sisters, exemplified the beautiful work of their ritual on Saturday evening with a good attendance. Refreshments were served. They will hold a whist party next Saturday night.

What we would like to know is whether we are going into saving daylight after this month or are we just going along just as we did in pre-war days? Some of us would like to save all the daylight we can and thus save something on our electric and gas bill, while others declare that it amounts to nothing at all, but the gas and electric people just speed up their meters a little bit and you have the same old bills to pay anyway.

What is the use of having a New Year's Day when there is nothing to swear off from? This national prohibition stuff is raising all sorts of knotty problems, such as what is to become of all the barkeepers and for that matter, the reformers, when there will be nobody to reform. It looks very much to us like the latter class have worked themselves out of a job. But then there are the tobacco users—of course they need reforming.

BACK FROM FRANCE
John T. Gough is back from France, where he has been in the service of the aviation corps.

JACK BARRY TO RETURN
Jack Barry, former fireman of this city who has been serving Uncle Sam in the army, is back to the Presidio and will be mustered out of the service in a few days. He will go back into his old job with the fire department.

HOW WE FOUND OUR WONDER STORE

Gertrude and I go window shopping every day on our lunch hour, and yesterday we passed a store on 13th St., that had such a charming window display, that we went inside, and the saleslady showed us some of the most stunning suits that I have seen this spring, and she said they sell them on credit, too.

We are going to hurry right over tomorrow noon and be fitted up with a new spring outfit, for we only have to pay a small deposit down and the balance a little each week.

You take the address, too, Mabel, for you will surely want a new suit for Easter. It's Cherry's and the address is 515 13th St., Oakland.—Advertisement.

GALLANT LITTLE SERBIA

Although the story of each one of the allied armies, when it comes to be written, will be found full of incidents of wonderful daring and devotion, few are likely to be better supplied in this respect than that of Serbia. As was pointed out in the series of articles dealing with the story of the Serbian armies, which appeared in this newspaper recently, many people in the allied countries fail to appreciate fully the great importance of the military services which Serbia rendered to the common cause. It is particularly well, however, that at this time, these services should be recognized and appreciated, says the Christian Science Monitor.

From the very beginning Serbia's task was a hard and uphill one, for, when the storm first broke, in the July of 1914, and the Austrian armies moved against the country, Serbia had to look, for her defense, to an army of war-worn, ill-equipped, one which had, within two years, fought two successful wars, one against Turkey and the other against Bulgaria, besides suppressing a revolution on her Albanian frontier. Nevertheless, within three weeks of their crossing the Serbian frontier, the Austrian forces were defeated in the famous battle of the Yadar, and forced to retire to their own territory. They tried again, after receiving reinforcements, and they failed again. Then came the entry of Turkey into the war, one immediate effect of which was to add tremendously to the importance of the campaign in Serbia. Serbia was willing to do all she could, but ammunition was running short, and the inability of the allies to supply the lack led to a great Serbian retirement in the late autumn of 1914. It was no disorderly rout, but a steady, dogged falling back, and as it continued, day by day, the allies realized, day by day, the seriousness of the position. An attempt was made to induce Greece to come to the rescue of her former ally, but in vain; and then, at last, the allies succeeded in getting through a limited supply of much needed ammunition to the retreating Serbian army. It was little enough, but it was sufficient to enable Serbia to make the stand she so much desired to make, and on December 3, there began that astounding counter-offensive which never stopped until the whole of the Austrian army had been, once again, completely swept from Serbian territory.

It was clear, however, to everyone, that neither Austria nor Germany could afford to accept defeat, and nine months afterwards, namely, in the autumn of 1915, the blow fell. A great Austro-German host advanced against Serbia, and the Serbian army was forced once again to retreat southward. The attack actually began on September 20. On September 23 Bulgaria mobilized, and on October 8 definitely entered the war. The position of Serbia was desperate, and the allies promised all the help they could possibly give her. An allied force was landed at Salonika, and Serbia waited, hoping against hope, day after day. Circumstances, however, were too much for the allies. No adequate reinforcements could be sent to the hard-pressed Serbian armies and the King of Greece refused to abide by the terms of his treaty with Serbia, and come to her aid. At last, entirely cut off from help, with supplies of all kinds running short, General Poutnik, the Serbian commander-in-chief, realized that he had only one course really open to him, and that was to attempt the impossible by seeking to reach the Adriatic in the dead of winter, across the mountains of Albania.

The story of this terrible march is one of the epics of the war. Early in January, the remnants of the Serbian army reached Scutari, and, disappointed in their hope of supplies here, they marched on still to Durazzo, and from Durazzo to Valona, where the allies finally succeeded in coming to their rescue and conveying the war-worn armies to the island of Corfu. Thereafter followed one of the most wonderful stories of rapid rehabilitation which the history of the war affords. Within two months the ragged, disorganized regiments which had embarked at Valona were converted into a strong, compact, well-equipped army of 120,000 men. Within a few months more they were all back again in the Balkans, fighting once more for the liberation of their country. That was in the early summer of 1916, and by the following November the victorious Serbian army, accompanied by the allied forces operating on the Salonika front, entered Monastir.

Then came almost two years of comparative inactivity. Europe had almost forgotten the Salonika front. It had come to be accepted as merely a retaining wall against any Austro-Hungarian advance on the Aegean; consequently, it was a surprise to most people, when, like a bolt from the blue, there came, in the middle of September of last year, a sudden and furious offensive on the part of the allied armies on the Salonika front, in the sector held by the Serbians between Monastir and the Vardar River. The success was immediate and decisive. The victorious advance of the Serbians never ceased until the Bulgarians, faced with a complete military debacle, sued for an armistice, and within a few days were out of the war. Bulgaria as quickly followed by Austria-Hungary, Austria-Hungary by Turkey, and Turkey by Germany. Thus it was reserved for the Serbian soldiers, many of whom had fought through the whole four and a half years of the war, to strike the blow which was to mark the beginning of the end.

From what we gather from the reported utterances of her leading citizens, France believes in a League of Nations and also in the maintenance of a strong guard on her eastern border to stand off invasion. In short her motto is something like the old-time slogan: "Trust in Providence and keep your powder dry."

"I suffered from nervousness, headache and deafness. My health was so poor that I was unable to do any thing. I had tried many doctors and had also been treated at the University Clinic. The doctors there inserted an instrument into my nose for the purpose of restoring my hearing. Its only effect was to cause me awful pain and bleeding. Then my nose also became stopped up and my suffering was worse than before.

At last I saw a Fong Wan Herb Tea advertisement. I went to their wonderful Herb specialist, and now after six weeks am entirely well in every way. This letter of recommendation is prompted by gratitude.

ALL-STAR BILL PLEASES SUNDAY PATRONS AT ORPHEUM

"Tom Walker," as depicted by John B. Hymer, the celebrated actor-playwright, in person, George McKay and Otis Ardine, noted vaudeville stars in the cleverest, frothiest, laughing concoction of their nationally famous career, the Primrose Four, that "Thousand Pounds of Harmony" that hold the palm as the funniest as well as the most nearly perfect musically of all male quartets, are the headline features of a bill composed entirely of laughing successes this week at the Oakland Orpheum. Manager Cornell calls it the "Joy Bill," perhaps the nearest to any possible description of the feast of fun in store for Orpheumites.

John B. Hymer is the author of "Tom Walker," "The Night Boat," "The Carol Cameo," and many other famous vaudeville plays, and in "Tom Walker," in which he appeared personally, he concocted a character that ranks with "Huck Finn" in its appeal to the risibilities.

Now he returns in a new version, "Tom Walker in Dixie Land," acting Tom himself, as no one else can. He takes an electric chair, incidentally, puts it into his play with consummate audacity, and makes of it an uproarious comedy.

George McKay and Otis Ardine do a little of everything, and do it so that one just can't help laughing. Hence their fame. The Primrose Four has never yet failed to stop a show; their reappearance is always the assurance of crowded houses.

Arthur, Wanzer and Maybelle Pauler add to the joy of the Orpheum mill with a very festive sort of skit. "She's hard to get along with." They call themselves the "skitologists" and admit that the act isn't according to Hoyle. It isn't, by a good deal, but how it makes them laugh, just the same.

Everest's Novelty Circus is a delight to kiddies from five to fifty; a clever aggregation of Simian actors in a real circus; Major Rhoads, the "Street Urchin of Vaudeville," and his violin, charm and astound; Bertha DuBaigney, Parisian prima donna, and comedy and Pathe pictures round out the bill. Announcement is made that Valeska Suratt, celebrated the world over, will soon appear at the Oakland Orpheum in her spectacular dramatic sensation, "The Purple Poppy." Reservations are heavy at the Orpheum and the Broadway box office at Lenhardt's.

Somebody says, "A piano is as sensitive as an invalid." But if you would like to have some testimony to the contrary, ask the invalid about the piano next door.

TIMMONS TELLS OF WILD TRIP FROM FILMORE

A. J. Timmons and wife arrived in Richmond yesterday from Filmore, a new oil refining town on the Mojave desert. They made the trip by automobile and from what Mr. Timmons says of it they must have had a very difficult journey across the Tehachia mountains. In some places they were compelled to travel in low gear through the mud and snow for miles, and several times had narrow escapes from losing their car and perhaps their lives.

Timmons does not advise anybody to make the trip across the mountains to the south by automobile at this season of the year, for no matter by which route you go there are difficulties to surmount that are almost beyond the endurance of automobiles and drivers.

Mr. Timmons leaves this evening for Filmore, but will go by train. His wife will remain in Richmond. He is the master mechanic of the refinery there and Jimmy Wier, formerly of this city, is the superintendent.

CHURCH WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED HERE YESTERDAY

Rev. D. W. Calfee officiated at a wedding yesterday afternoon at the Wesley Methodist church, the contracting parties being Edna Preston Deves, daughter of Mrs. Edna Preston Mulanax, who was joined in solemn wedlock to Austin Collins, of Manteca, San Joaquin county.

The ceremony took place in the presence of a large number of friends of the bride and groom and afterward a wedding banquet prepared by friends of the young lady, was held at the spacious dining room of the Richmond club on Ninth avenue at Twelfth street.

The groom was attended by his brother, Hollis A. Collins, while the bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Weihe. The bride was dressed in a becoming traveling costume and carried a shower bouquet of fregias, and the groom in conventional black. After the banquet the bride and groom departed on a short wedding journey to the southland, after which they will return to Manteca where they will reside.

The following guests were present at the banquet: Mr. and Mrs. Nelcher, Oakland; Mrs. M. Northcutt, Mrs. M. Jasven, Mrs. W. W. Collins, Miss Theresa Costa, Miss Elizabeth Fitzek, Miss Kittle B. Klye, Mrs. Clara Meyer, Henry Taylor, Gene Hancher, George Sarokis, Mrs. Gene Hancher, Joe Hancher, Irvia S. Preston, Mrs. Annie E. Preston, Miss Vesta Krusa, Miss Ethyl Krusa, Mrs. Charley Krusa, Lillian Boydston, Hazel Yarnell, Edna Preston Mulanax, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Farum, Charles D. Utt, Mrs. Chas. D. Utt, Lawrence Farum, Marjorie Farum, H. R. Taylor, Will Collins.

FORMER OUTLAW IS COMING TO RICHMOND

In "The Lady of the Dugout," at the Richmond theater today, Al Jennings, formerly a noted outlaw, has drawn upon his picturesque past revealing the incident of a great love that sprang into being and ennobled the character of his brother Frank, leaving a sweet and tender memory to soothe his later days. The plot is uniquely unfolded and is acted with rare feeling and appreciation. The photoplay is remarkable for its unusual effects.

Besides the Jennings Brothers there are such film favorites as Corinne Grant, Carl Stockdale, Little Ben Alexander, who won fame for his work in "Hearts of the World," and numerous others. The scenes have been filmed in their actual locale and point a strong moral while at the same time furnishing the most thrilling of entertainment.

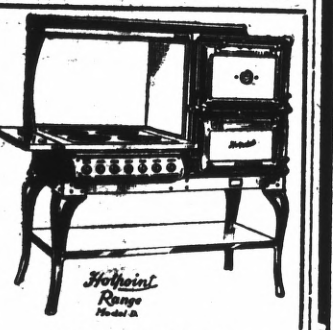

MARY K. WALSH FUNERAL WILL TAKE PLACE TOMORROW

The last sad rites over the remains of the late Mary Katherine Walsh will take place at St. Mark's Catholic church at Bissell avenue and Tenth street tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, with interment in St. Joseph's cemetery at San Pablo.

The daughter of Mrs. Walsh, Miss Annie E. Baker, arrived here from New York yesterday and she is stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Cassidy on Tenth street. The young lady had a long fatiguing trip and encountered much bad weather on the journey across the continent. Her plans for the future are not altogether settled, but she will probably remain here several weeks or until the estate of her mother is settled.

MILLARD FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral of the late Harry Millard, the electrician who was electrocuted last Thursday evening on a boat at the Santa Fe Ferry Point, took place this afternoon from the Smallwood mortuary parlors. Rev. Carl Bassett of the First Baptist church officiated. The remains were interred in Sunset View cemetery.

WATER WORKS MAN GIVES OUT FACTS

After Searching for Years He at Last Finds Medicine That Ends Troubles

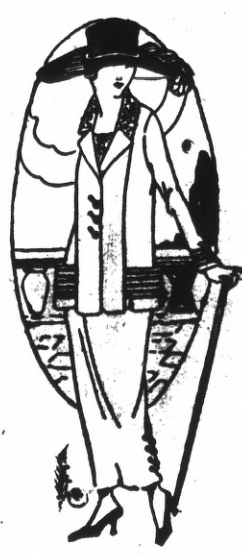

"I have been trying for years to get something that would relieve me of my troubles and have found it at last in Tanlac," said Alfred Jolly, of 3291 Quitman street, Denver, Colorado, and an employee of the water works department of that city.

"For a long time," he continued, "my stomach was in such an awful fix that I could eat hardly a thing without being in misery afterwards. Even the lightest foods would bloat me up with gas and I was constantly belching up sour, undigested food that at times would almost choke me, and often I would get so dizzy and light-headed that I would almost fall down, and I would get so nervous that it was almost impossible for me to rest at night. I suffered agony from rheumatism and was in such a wretched condition that I was hardly fit for a thing."

"After trying nearly everything I could hear of, I took Tanlac, and it sure hit the spot and has made a different man of me. My appetite is splendid, my nerves steady, I sleep like a log at night, have gained eight pounds and am in better shape than I have been in years."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by H. J. Quinn, in Crockett by J. Civiletti, in Pittsburg by Royal Pharmacy, in Walnut Creek by F. J. Wiset, in Placita by K. K. H. Dunlap, and in Danville by J. S. Farquhar. Adv.
